Join us for this exciting meeting with Professor Howard Kushner as he discusses his book, On the Other Hand: Left Hand, Right Brain, Mental Disorder, and History, in which he traces the impact of left-handedness on human cognition, behavior, culture, and health. A left-hander himself, Kushner has long been interested in the meanings associated with left-handedness, and ultimately with whether hand preference can even be defined in a significant way. Professor Kushner is the Robertson Distinguished Prof. of Science & Society Emeritus at Emory University where he held joint appointments as Professor in the Department of Behavioral Sciences and Health Education in Rollins School of Public Health and in Emory’s Programs Human Health and in Neuroscience and Behavioral Biology. Kushner is a historian of medicine and neuroscience; his research has included a collaborative study of Kawasaki Disease. He has published four books as well as a series of articles on addiction and its relationship to self-medication.
